The guidelines for the design, with the description of the contents and objectives, are given in the Preliminary Design Document (hereinafter, referred to as PDD), hereto attached and an integral part of these Regulations.

1. TOPICS AND OBJECTIVES OF THE COMPETITION

The topics of the Competition are divided into MAIN TOPICS and RELATED TOPICS

The MAIN TOPICS which the Competition relates to are as follows:

- B. To identify solutions featuring important architectural elements.
- C. To give a uniform and recognizable image to the different types of ANAS roads.

The RELATED TOPICS which the Competition relates to are as follows:

- A. To enhance and promote forms of design research into the field of roads in Italy, characterized by important environmental-landscape elements through integrated and joint actions.
- B. Integrated design with the surrounding context.
- C. Environmental communication for the management of environmental and territorial conflicts.

2. ESTIMATED COST OF THE WORKS TO BE DESIGNED

Maximum cost of the design proposal for the type of "overpass" for individual infrastructures including ramps and associated elements must be equal to:

- € 1,500,000.00 (excluding VAT and foundation work) for ordinary overpasses;

Before proceeding to the second phase, which entails the application of the concept and the development of the project in an area of reference to be chosen, the maximum cost of the works will be estimated.

The cost of the proposal - also with regard to its operation and maintenance - will be among the qualifying factors.

2. STRUCTURE OF THE PROCEDURE

The Competition will be carried out through an open procedure, divided into two phases:

- the first phase, in anonymous form, for the technical proposal, is aimed at selecting the best design proposals up to a maximum of 10 (ten) to be admitted to the following phase;

2.1 AREA OF REFERENCE

The area of reference for testing the application of the "concept" and the development of the project will be chosen, at the end of the first phase of the Competition, among the ANAS works which present along their extension a good considerable number of different types of intersection with other related crossing roads, to be solved through the use of overpasses.

The area of reference will be selected among those listed in the *Main routes included in the ANAS Multiannual Plan 2015-2019 By way of a non-limiting example among the main initiatives undertaken under the New Works and Completion of routes, the Plan provides for the completion of the A3 Salerno-Reggio Calabria, priority works along the SS 106 "Jonica", the completion of the SS 182 "delle Serre Calabre," the completion of the Grosseto-Siena on the Grosseto-Fano section, priority works for the Malpensa Airport accessibility system; priority works along the SS 9 "Via Emilia"; rationalization and expansion works on Rome's main ring road.

10. PHASE TWO - PRESENTATION OF THE DOCUMENTS

The competitors admitted to the second phase of the competition, up to a maximum of ten, are invited to attend the seminar organised by the contracting authority with the participation of the Selection Panel to be held in Rome at ANAS and to the possible on-site inspection.

They are also invited to participate in the online Request for Proposals "Concorso Reinventa - Fase 2" where they will present detailed documents related to the design project selected in the first phase.

The documentation submitted must illustrate the project proposal in an exhaustive and complete manner, outlining the most important profiles and features of the works and of the documents of the subsequent design phases, and be composed, at least of the following documents:

- a. Descriptive and technical report;
- b. Technical report;
- c. Environmental feasibility study and landscaping with investigation of any historical, artistic and archaeological, landscaping constraints and preliminary elements of the monitoring systems envisaged for the individual environmental components affected;
- d. Studies needed for a proper definition of the context which the works will be part of, accompanied by descriptive bibliographic data of the physical, seismic, geological, hydraulic aspects aimed at defining the characterization of the territory and of the environment which the proposed work will be inserted in as well as town planning aspects;
- e. General layout and drawings;
- f. Initial indications and provisions for drawing up safety plans;
- g. Estimate;
- h. Special conditions of performance;
- i. Communication plan.

The document files must be printable and must not individually exceed the size of 50 MB, except for audiovisual files which will have a maximum size of 100 MB.

In particular the following documents shall include the following contents:

1. Reports

a. Illustrative Report

The report will be divided so as to describe: the selection phase of the alternatives and will then summarise all the information and reasons and considerations leading to the selection of the best option; it will contain a detailed description of the selected option and directions for the continuation of the project, it will also contain a summary of the economic aspects of the project.

In detail the report should address the following topics:

- Explanation of the reasons for the proposed solution and motivation of the architectural and techniques choices of the design;
- General description of the design solution from a technical and functional point of view;
- Adaptation of the solution proposed to the possible diverse physical (morphological, geo-technical, hydraulic etc.) seismic and environmental conditions present on the Italian territory;
- Indication of the structural solutions related to architectural proposals;
- Information on the construction phase (timing, space requirements, supplies, impact, etc.);
- Description of the characterization of the project in terms of insertion in the reference contexts and relationships with the surrounding built areas and the occupation of areas as well as with regard to interference with public services present and their solution;
- Description of the proposed solution as regards sustainability with particular reference to the protection of resources (limited power consumption, eco-efficient choice of construction materials, limitation of water consumption) and environmental protection (reduction of emissions of greenhouse gases, light and noise pollution);
- Description of the construction materials, devices and technologies used to minimize ordinary and/or extraordinary maintenance, including in relation to their availability and ease of installation through Life Cost Analysis;
- Circumstances which cannot be shown in the drawings;
- Guidelines for the preparation of the final design;
- Initial indications and measures relating to the protection of health and safety during construction and for drawing up safety plans;
- Preliminary report on the economic aspects of the project.

The Report may include images and drawings and must be contained in a file of max. of 50 pages in UNI A4 format in Arial 10 body font plus the cover on PDF files and must be digitally signed by the group leader.

b. Technical Report

The report shall include the development of specialised technical studies of the project with reference to the main technical standards, describe the investigations made and the characterisation of parts of the work in terms of blending in with the territory, justify the technical choices of the project in relation to the different evaluation criteria, also highlighting the possible alternatives and the reasons for such choices.

In particular, the works and related construction methods will be described and the preliminary technical sizing shown (supporting the typology and structural drawing). For tied-arch solutions, allowing a reduction of the structural thickness on the bigger spans below the bridge gradient and thus a lowering thereof with positive effects on blending in and the overall cost of the crossing, particular attention should be paid to cross-platform distribution.

From this point of view, the possibility of using standard lateral protection barriers seamlessly with any embankments/access viaducts is undoubtedly an advantage. However, if such a solution requires an excessive space dysfunctional for the type of proposal, alternative solutions may be accepted involving integration of restraint barriers with the artefact itself for the safety of users and the infrastructure itself.

The report will describe the construction phases and define the closing times of the underlying infrastructure, considering that in most cases overpasses must be built on existing roads in operation and that such time frames should be organised at night or on days with less traffic.

Information will be given regarding the selection criteria and the performance characteristics of the materials to be used for the execution of works. For the construction components in concrete and in metal, the environmental exposure classes and performance characteristics identified on the basis of information provided by the relevant UNI standard should be indicated. Information should also be provided on the use of waste material deriving from the demolition of existing engineering works as material for the new construction.

c. Drawings showing the accessibility and connections with the surrounding areas (urban, peri-urban, non-urbanised territory), the characterization of public spaces, the provision of open spaces and green areas relevant to the works

- General layout in scale 1:2000;
- Scale plans 1:1,000 and 1:500 enabling identification of all the distribution typological and functional features of the design, supplemented if necessary by details in different scales and tables relative to the technical parameters to be observed;
- Sections, elevations and views on an appropriate scale for the description of both the artefacts and appurtenant spaces and accessories.

The drawings must be contained in n° 5 UNI A0 format tables oriented horizontally in a PDF file, digitally signed by the group leader.

d. Summary calculation of expenditure

The summary calculation of expenditure generated by PRIMUS, SRT or other compatible software format will be presented on PDF files, digitally signed by the group leader.

e. Communication plan.

The communication plan should enable and facilitate the relationship with local institutions where the works are planned and the authorities in charge of issuing the required permits. This document must be digitally signed by the group leader and presented on slides in PDF or POWER POINT as read-only or as a media file in AVI, MP4 or WMV.

Audio-visual support, as innovative as the design idea it is to describe, will be used to provide correct, clear information and the strategic approach of the infrastructure works to prevent situations of crisis and conflict - NIMBY syndrome - social and political opposition by groups of citizens to the siting of infrastructures affecting the environment.

In developing the project, applicants must take into account any instructions given by the selection panel at the end of phase one of the competition as well as in the seminar involving the finalists.

Additional documents, or documents different from those indicated in these Regulations are not allowed, under penalty of exclusion.
